Information on study break

- Study break is normally granted for two semesters. For additional study break to granted, special reasons are required and must be substantiated. Study break can not be granted for the first semester of the programme.
- Study break will not be granted whilst studying abroad through the Department of business Studies.
- You resume your studies after a study break by applying to courses for the semester you wish to return again.
- Absence from the programme without a granted study break will be considered as interruption of studies and you will be removed from the programme.
